The Wayne County Partnership

Issue # 95

September 29, 2022

Opioid Task Force

The Wayne County Opioid Task Force reconvened for the first time since 2019 on Tuesday September 27th. Bernadin Valcin, Public Health Corps Fellow from WC Behavioral Health, presented to gathered stakeholders information on the status of opioid overdoses in Wayne County over the past several years. Subcommittees on Prevention, Data, Treatment, Law Enforcement, and Health Disparities are currently being formed to focus on specific areas of need and to identify barriers to conquer to ensure the individuals experiencing a substance use disorder receive the most comprehensive care they need.

Currently, the WC Opioid Task Force is looking to rebuild their membership. All community stakeholders and members are encouraged to join, participate, and make the Task Force successful in combatting the opioid (and other substances) epidemic. If you are interested in joining, please email WCPH@co.wayne.ny.us with your contact information so you will receive all future Task Force updates and meeting invitations. Please also indicate any interest in joining a subcommittee.

The last Partnership meeting of the year is Wednesday, October 12, 2022 from 9:00 - 10:30 am, with an additional 30 minutes for informal networking. We will be meeting at the W-FL BOCES Conference Center in Newark. There will be no remote option for this meeting.

Please register at the Wayne County Connection for Learning. Meeting agenda, materials, and updates will be sent to registrants

Partner Spotlight

Youth Advocate Programs, Inc

When young people experience adversity, trauma and toxic stress, abuse or neglect, and/or discrimination, their development and well-being are negatively affected. These challenges make young people more likely to be vulnerable to being placed out of their home by systems that traditionally look at congregate care as the only option. Right now, more than half a million young people currently live in youth jails and prisons, psychiatric hospitals and group homes, or are disconnected from their parents, siblings, schools and communities by being placed in foster care. Research shows that being placed outside of the home in and of itself is traumatic, and unfortunately many youths experience further trauma while in placement.

The good news is that YAP services are designed to reverse the damage done by trauma and toxic stress. YAP services strengthen the foundation of young people from within their homes and communities through repairing and restoring fractured relationships and connecting youth and their families to supportive people, places, activities, and opportunities that meet their individualized needs and help them to achieve positive goals. Our program participants and their families are empowered with skills and social capital needed to make contributions that create vibrant and healthy families, neighborhoods, and communities.
